GERAN CLAIMS CITY IS LIABLE IN SEWER WORK

Solicitor Rules Municipality Must Pay Cost of Correcting Wrong Connections

PLUMBERS ARE BLAMED

Officials Express Belief That More Than 500 Alterations Are Necessary

That the city will be required to bear the cost of making all corrections in the sanitary sewer system to eliminate the pollution of Rock Swale Ditch west of the city, was the opinion expressed by City Solicitor George T. Geran today.

"The question as to who must finance the work has come in for considerable discussion since the ruling by the State Board of Health demanding that some action be taken to correct the trouble," the city solicitor said, "but it is my opinion that the city will be required to bear the cost."

The solicitor based his opinion on the grounds that when a sewer connection is made the owner of the property is acting in good faith and can not be held responsible if the tap is made into the storm water instead of the sanitary sewer.

Plumbers Blamed

Much of the blame for the trouble is laid at the doors of plumbers, some of whom, it is charged by city officials, have been tapping into the first sewer they come to, without taking the trouble to determine whether it is the sanitary or storm water. In some streets the sanitary sewer is above the storm water and in other streets it is below, making it almost impossible to know which is which, unless the city engineer's office is checked.

The depth of the basement compared to the depth of the sanitary sewer, also plays a part in the wrong connection problem, it being impossible on some streets because of the sewer not being deep enough, to tap the cellar drain and sanitary connection into the proper sewer, officials point out.

Method of Procedure

A large portion of the work that will be done by the building inspector, in fact the main reason for the appointment, will be to ferret out the connections. The method of determining

J. M. HAMILTON GIVEN ROAD WORK CONTRACT

Turns in Bid for Salt Rock Township Project $4,000 Below Estimate

Contract for construction of a seven-mile road improvement in Salt Rock Township, one of the largest township projects ever planned in Marion County, was awarded yesterday to J. M. Hamilton of this city following opening of bids at Morral. The award was made by the township trustees, who, with County Surveyor C. R. Leavens, will supervise the construction work.

Hamilton's bid was $23,200, more than $4,000 below the estimate of $27,205.44. Work is to be started as soon as weather conditions permit and the contract calls for completion of the improvement on or before Oct. 1.

The improvement includes sections of three township roads, all connected. It will be 7.1 miles in length, 12 feet in width and be constructed of rolled macadam.

Plans were drawn up by the county surveyor under the system of co-operation between the county and townships.

Other bids submitted in addition to Hamilton's were:

Brady & O'Connell, Marion, $24,182.22; Molloy & Seckle, Marion, $24,990.56; Laubis Stone Co., Kenton, $25,868.41; C. F. Schwab, Bucyrus, $26,702.47; S. M. Wooley, Marion, $23,813.58; Austine & Carey, Kenton, $26,502.47; Ideal Construction Co., Upper Sandusky, $26,702.47; Ernest Dunn, Carey, $24,686.59.

FOUR ESCAPE DEATH WHEN CAR IS BURNED

Interurban Jumps Track at Sharp Curve Near Ravenna; Overturns

Ravenna, March 2—A motorman, conductor and two passengers escaped injury early today when an Akron-bound Northern Power and Light Co. interurban car was destroyed by fire, after it jumped the track at a sharp curve near here and overturned, according to witnesses.

Motorman H. Underwood, Cuyahoga Falls, Conductor L. Grant, Ravenna, and the two passengers, Raymond Norton and Earl Johnston, students at the Davey Institute at Kent, crawled from under the car just as it burst into flames. The blaze started from the upset stove in the car, it was said.

Conference Being Planned To Discuss Establishment Of Municipal Airport Here

Junior Chamber of Commerce Arranging To Call Meeting of All Civic, Fraternal and Industrial Organizations Together on Project

Plans for a conference of representatives of various local civic organizations to discuss plans for establishing a municipal airport here were outlined by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held last night.

Believing that the project can be worked out successfully, the Junior Chamber instructed its secretary to invite the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, Marion Chamber of Commerce, Marion Real Estate Board and all other bodies working for community progress to participate in the conference.

Should favorable responses be received it is expected that a date for the meeting will be set in the near future.

The Junior Chamber, organized several months ago, took up the airport project as one of its first activities and has obtained a large amount of data from other cities where airports have been established. This information will be sumitted at the proposed conference.

Speaker Sought

In addition, arrangements have been made to have a representative of the Junior Chamber of Cincinnati, who is thoroughly conversant with the question, come here to make a tentative survey and recommend a prospective airport site.

Charles Whysall, chairman of the Junior Chamber's airport committe, submitted a report on progress of his work at last night's meeting, held in the rooms of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. This was the first meeting of the new organization held in the Marion Chamber of Commerce rooms which will be the permanent meeting place in the future.

The local organization voted to affiliate with the state Junior Chamber of Commerce organization, now being formed.

Rhu Cheney, Welcome Cass and Kenneth Clutter, officers of the Marion Junior Chamber, attended a meeting held in Dayton on Feb. 5 and 6 when preliminary plans for the state organization were drawn up.

Clutter on Committee

Clutter, the local secretary, is a member of the committee named at Dayton to work out the organization plans.

Paul Fersel, chairman of he membership committee, announced plans for a membership drive which is expected to start with a banquet and get-together meeting tentatively set for March 29. G. T. Tiemeyer of Cincinnati, member of the state organization committee, has agreed to deliver the principal address.

The Marion Junior Chamber has set its membership goal at 150. The enrollment now totals 65, two new members being admitted last night. Enrollment is open to young men between the ages of 18 and 35.

COACHES UPSET IN DERAILMENT

Thirteen Coaches Leave Tracks but None of 131 Passengers Is Injured

Toledo, March 2—Thirteen coaches of a fast New York Central passenger train from Chicago, enroute to Cleveland, left the rails at Swanton, 20 miles west of here early today, two of the cars overturning. The train carried 131 passengers but no one was seriously hurt.

Another train was immediately rushed to the scene and passengers resumed the trip on the latter. A broken rod on the locomotive of the wrecked train is believed to have caused it to leave its tracks, pulling the cars along.

There were nine Pullman coaches on the train and many passengers were routed from their berths. Work of clearing the tracks was begun at once.

SUBWAY, L WORKERS WILL GO ON STRIKE

Mayor Walker Seeking To Halt Walkout on New York Line

New York, March 2—Subway and elevated workers on the Interborough Rapid Transit Company's lines here are expected to go on strike at midnight tomorrow unless intervention by Mayor James J. Walker today is successful.

Meanwhile, 700 strikebreakers, guarded by police, have been imported by the Interborough and are ready for duty. Motormen are being trained hurriedly.

Reports were current today that Thomas E. Mitten, chairman of the board of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co., will manage the Interborough lines if the city recaptures them during the strike. Mitten has leased an apartment here. If hired by Mayor Walker he will have virtually dictatorial powers.

Heads of large business concerns have arranged to take their employes to and from work by other means of transportation if a strike is called.

WOULD-BE FLIER AND PILOT KILLED IN CRASH

Salem, Ore., March 2—Dare Sloper, a druggist of Dayton, Ore., who had ambitions to become an aviator, and Everett Boedecker, pilot, are dead here today as the result of an airplane crash.

Flying in an old, reconstructed plane, the machine was seen to dip, then roll over on its side and crash.

Sloper was taken from the wrecked plane dead and Boedecker died later in a local hospital.

DOCTOR MUST DIE

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Girl's Death After Illegal Operation

Chicago, March 2—Dr. Amante Rongetti, head of the Ashland Boulevard Hospital, must die in the electric chair for the death, through an illegal operation, of Miss Loretta J. Laderer.

A verdict finding the doctor guilty and fixing his punishment at death was returned in Judge Frank B. Comerford's court last night by a jury which had deliberated three hours.

Dr. Rongetti is the first convicted murderer in Cook County to face the newly-installed electric chair. He is also the first person in Illinois to receive the extreme penalty in connection with fatal consequences of an illegal operation.

BATTLE $350,000 FIRE FOR ELEVEN HOURS

Kittanning, Pa., March 2—Firemen believed they had checked a blaze here today that raged for 11 hours, breaking out anew intermittently until damage estimated between $350,000 and $500,000 was done.

Five stores, buildings and [illegible] above were destroyed by the flames as firemen from seven nearby towns attempted to bring the conflagration under control.

Mr. and Mrs. America Planning Another Traveling Spree During Coming Summer

WASHINGTON, March 2—Mr. and Mrs. America and family, world champion globe trotters, are going on a traveling spree this summer.

Reports to various government departments indicated today that America's traveling bill this year will total the staggering sum of $5,000,000,000. This is a billion dollars more than the approximately annual cost of running the government.

Shipping, railroad, automobile and airplane officials are preparing for the greatest year in history.

It is estimated that approximately 400,000 overseas voyagers will spend $850,000,000. Last year foreigners spent but $115,000,000 traveling in America. The shipping board announced that reservations point to practically all its passenger ships being booked full for the summer. Another liner, the reconditioned America, will be put into service this month to handle the expected increased traffic to Europe. The greatest increase is in the tourist business. The Commerce Department estimates that the tourists spend an

LINDY SEES MOTHER GIVEN DECORATION

Departs Mysteriously for New York; Refuses To Answer Questions

Curtiss Field, N. Y., March 2—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and three business associates landed here shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, after having flown from Boston in a Ryan Brougham monoplane.

Lindbergh's arrival was a surprise as the plane had set out from Boston at 7:50 a. m. with the colonel's destination a secret to newspapermen. He had refused to talk with reporters before the takeoff.

As Lindbergh stepped from the cabin of his plane after landing, he appeared annoyed at the attempts of newspapermen to talk with him. He frowned, and ignoring questions, strode to a waiting automobile and was driven away.

Harry K. Knight, one of Lindbergh's principal backers for his transatlantic flight, and B. F. Mahoney, who built the "Spirit of St. Louis," the Lindbergh plane, were waiting for the colonel when he arrived here.

To quote his own words the "Lone Eagle" attended his last official function last night for some time when he saw his mother receive the supreme honor as a school teacher of the United States.

Before a crowd of 8,000 persons in Mechanics Hall, Boston, Colonel Lindbergh stepped back from the limelight

DEVIL DOGS SEARCH JUNGLES FOR BANDIT

Detachments Scour Countryside for Sandino: Diaz, Moncada Regret Incident

Managua, Nicaragua, March 2—Three separate detachments of "Devil Dogs" blazed trails northward through the Nicaraguan jungles today in their search for General Sandino and his guerilla followers who ambushed a marine pack train Monday afternoon, killing five men and wounding eight others.

Two of the detachments are commanded by Colonels Dunlap and Wallace. A provisional mounted detachment under the command of Major Rockey is supporting these two.

Other detachments are moving northeast from Esteli and south and west from Ocotal.

Both President Diaz and General Moncada, Liberal nominee for president, have expressed their profound sorrow and sympathy to American Minister Eberhardt for the latest American losses.

MOTHER CHEERED

Mrs. Coolidge Pays Several Visits to Hospital at Northampton

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 2—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue was considerably cheered today because of the arrival and visit of her daughter, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who is herself recovering from a recent attack of grippe. Mrs. Coolidge made two visits to the Dickinson-Cooley Hospital following her arrival, and planned to spend most of her time there today.

The condition of the 78-year-old Mrs. Goodhue has not materially changed for some time. Dr. E. J. Hayes, her physician, stated she is in no immediate danger. She was failing slowly because of her advanced years.

Mrs. Goodhue was stricken with an attack of influenza early in the winter and has been convalescing very slowly.

MORE LIGHT ON BONDS SOUGHT

Secret Investigators Follow Trails After Hays Testifies Before Committee

Washington, March 2—Secret investigators for the Senate Public Lands Committee were following trails today that are expected to throw more light upon the ultimate disposition of the Continental Trading Company's $3,080,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund."

Some of these bonds, it has been shown, went to Ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall, who leased Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair; others to H. M. Blackmer and James O'Neil, Midwestern oil men, and finally others to the Republican National Committee, to aid it in liquidating its 1920 deficit.

Although Sinclair defied the Senate committee when it sought to learn disposition of the Continental bonds, and is now under a jail sentence for contempt because of this defiance, the committee has learned from Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, that the oil magnate put up $260,000 for the committee after he leased the naval oil reserve from Fall.

Returned to Sinclair

One hundred thousand dollars in bonds were later returned to Sinclair, making his net contribution $160,000. The first $75,000 in bonds, which were found to be the selfsame Continental bonds, constituted an outright gift, Hays informed the committee. A "loan" of $100,000 was later returned to Sin-

TRAFFIC LIGHT BIDS OPEN UNTIL MARCH 17

Specifications for New Signs Taken Out by Number of Manufacturers

Bids for the material and installation of the six traffic lights to replace the pedestal lights now in use, will be received until 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, March 17, according to a notice being advertised today by Safety Director W. B. Strayer.

Specifications for the six lights, including both the center and side arm type, which have been prepared by the safety director, have been taken out by a number of manufacturers. The bids will be opened by the board of control on the afternoon of March 17.

Included in the specifications are provisions for lenses, in the lamps, through which the light will be plainly visible in midday. Each light will be independent of the rest and can be speeded up or slowed down as desired.

The lights also will have a master control at police headquarters, equipped with an emergency switch, which will enable the desk sergeant to hold any one color or any group of lights in an emergency.

Figures also were asked for lights with lettered and unlettered lenses and also for figures on the cost without the special control features.

HOOVER TO WITHDRAW IN WISCONSIN PRIMARY

Washington, March 2—Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will withdraw from the Wisconsin presidential primary, it was announced today.

George Akerson, Hoover's assistant, declared the secretary's name was entered in Wisconsin by an "unauthorized person." His name will be withdrawn today. Tomorrow is the last day for filing for the primary election to be held on April 3.

CITIES PLEAD GAS PETITION BE DISMISSED

Declare Logan Company Endeavoring To Circumvent Judgment of Court

Columbus, March 2—Claiming that the Logan Gas Co. was endeavoring to circumvent the judgment of the Ohio Supreme Court, and arguing that provisions of Ohio Statutes prohibited the State Utilities Commission from giving consideration to the company's latest request, counsel for the various protesting cities, villages and rural districts, at a public hearing this afternoon, asked the commission to dismiss the company's application, filed Feb. 17, last, for permission to put into effect immediately a temporary increased rate schedule.

This proposed rate schedule, if authorized, would be effective in Marion, Bucyrus, Ashland, Fremont, Crestline and about 30 other protesting communities, pending termination of the investigation the commission is conducting relative to protests against increased rate schedules filed by the Logan Gas Co. about two years ago.

Presented by Solicitors

The proposed temporary schedule would provide for the following rates: $1 for the first 500 cubic feet, or less, per month, without discount; 63 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 500 cubic feet, subject to a discount of 5 cents per each 1,000 cubic feet, if bills are paid within 10 days.

Argument opposing the company's latest application was presented by counsel for the city of Marion and by city solicitors of Ashland, Bucyrus, Crestline, Athens and Lorain on behalf of all the protesting communities.

"The municipalities contesting this rate are not to be bluffed, or bulldozed, into accepting a 60-cent rate, which the company frankly admits is its ultimate aim to establish, simply because this company is now putting on a performance hoping to receive publicity thereby, and, so, bluff the councils, unacquainted

ORDERS LOWER GAS RATE FOR KENTON

Commission Also Declares Company Must Refund Money to People

Columbus, March 2—An order materially reducing natural gas rates in Kenton was issued here today by the state Utilities Commission. The commission ordered the West Ohio Gas Co. to put into effect immediately in the Kenton area the following schedule of rates:

For the first 400 cubic feet, or less, per month, 88 cents; for the next 2,600 cubic feet, or less, per month, 71 cents per each 1,000 cubic feet; for the next 7,000 cubic feet, or less, per month, 70 cents per each 1,000 cubic feet; for all over 10,000 cubic feet used per month, 55 cents per each 1,000 cubic feet.

The utilities commission also ordered the West Ohio Gas Co., within the next 60 days, to refund by check to its consumers in Kenton the difference with interest between the rates and charges which the company collected, under bond, as provided for in a former rate schedule which had been filed with the commission to become effective as of August 1, 1926.

The commission's order decreed that such moneys, with interest, as shall not have been claimed within one year by the corporations, or persons, entitled to such funds, shall be paid by the West Ohio Gas Co. to the Kenton city treasurer "for the benefit of the general fund," as required by Ohio law.

TWO ARE KILLED

Three Others Hurt When Traction Car Strikes Automobile

Toledo, March 2—Two persons are dead and three other persons are in a hospital here today as a result of a grade crossing accident three miles south of Perrysburg late Thursday.

The dead are Cyril Plovie, 39, and his 16-year-old daughter, Ida. His wife, Lily, 39, Camel Hugh, 37, and Basil Brebent, 50, are in the hospital suffering from slight injuries.

An interurban car of the Toledo-Bowling Green line struck the auto in which the people were riding at a crossing on the Dixie Highway near Perrysburg. All are residents of Cloverdale, Ohio.

Plovie was killed instantly, and his daughter died this morning in the east side hospital here.

PARKING RULE VIOLATIONS IN MAJORITY

Officials Intimate Action Will Serve To Warn Against Carelessness

WILL APPEAR SATURDAY

Largest Number of "Tickets" Handed Out Since Code Became Effective

Swooping down on Marion motorists who have become careless about turning on parking lights in restricted districts and parking improperly, Marion police last night tagged 63 cars in various parts of the city.

This is the largest number of "tickets" handed out for alleged infractions of the city's traffic regulations since the code went into effect more than three years ago.

Among the offenses cited on the tags were parking without lights, parking cars all night on city streets, double parking and parking in alleys.

May Just Get Warning

None of the unlucky motorists had put in their appearance in Municipal Court up until a late hour this afternoon, but it is expected that the "ticket bearers" will make their appearance in the morning.

While the violations charged on the tags are punishable by fines, it was intimated today at City Hall that the roundup last night is to serve as a warning.

First offenders, police records show, have, in the past, escaped with the court's warning not to repeat the offense, but motorists appearing for the second time have been fined. The usual fine for second offenses has been $2.

MARION POSTOFFICE HAS RECORD MONTH

Receipts for February Total $23,924.12; Highest in History of Office

With receipts totaling $23,924.12, February holds the record to date for the largest month's business in the local postoffice, reports filed in the office of Postmaster French Crow showed today. It also is the second time in the history of the office that receipts for one month were above the twenty thousand mark, December of last year showing a record of $20,035.37. The receipts mark a gain of 80 per cent over February of last year.

The increase is largely due to the distribution of several carloads of catalogues shipped to this city for distribution through the office, adding to the receipts a trifle over $7,500. Deducting this sum, however, the report showed a gain of 27 per cent over last year.

LOS ANGELES FLIES TOWARD LAKEHURST

Dirigible Sighted Over Jacksonville, Fla., on Its Return Trip

Washington, March 2—The dirigible Los Angeles passed over Jacksonville, Fla., on its return trip from Panama to Lakehurst, N. J., at 7:15 a. m. today, according to a radio from the giant airship to the Navy Department.

The Los Angeles left her mooring on the tender Patoka in Guacanaybo Bay, Cuba, at 10:43 a. m. yesterday. She should arrive at Lakehurst early this afternoon.

FRENCHMEN HOP OFF

Mitchel Field, N. Y., March 2—Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrix, French transatlantic fliers, left here at 11:37 o'clock this morning for Detroit, on the first leg of their proposed transcontinental flight. They will follow the air mail route.

DROP GAS PETITION, ATTORNEYS PLEAD

[illegible] Logan Company En- [illegible] To Circumvent [illegible] ent of Court

[illegible] Stalling Tactics

[illegible] ment that the [illegible] Logan Gas [illegible] the purpose of [illegible] commission in [illegible] accepting [illegible] be unfair to the [illegible] "This commission [illegible] mistaken the [illegible] commission when it [illegible] would be [illegible] unusual [illegible] proceeding."

[illegible] Logan Gas Co. was attempting to accomplish indirectly that which it has been denied the right to do directly," the city solicitors directed the attention of the commission to a decision by the Ohio Supreme Court that a public utility was not entitled to file new rate schedules while the commission was investigating protests against a schedule of boosted rates previously filed by the same company.

This charge was based upon the fact that the company's latest application is in the form of a request for action by the commission as a part of its present investigation in the company's original rate case. The company has asked the commission to amend or alter its previous rate schedule.

Counsel for the cities asserted that never in the history of this commission has it altered or amended a schedule of rates that was being collected under bond previous to a final determination, and never has this commission, because of its lack of authority, allowed rates greater than those filed by the company on its own initiative and being collected under bond."

Would Be Abuse, Claim

Attorneys for the protesting communities declared that, if any altering or amending should be done at this time, the commission should strike from the gas company's rates schedule the 15-cent service charge which, it was claimed, "is unreasonable and unjust."

If the comission granted the gas company's latest request to charge temporary increased rates, such action "would not only be unlawful, but would be a clear, manifest abuse of their (the commission's) discretion," the city solicitors argued. "There can be but one conclusion that should be reached and that is that this application be dismissed."

"If the commission would alter and amend the schedule in this instance, then, likewise, it would be subject to an application by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to alter and amend the schedule of rates, affecting some 81 municipalities in Ohio, which is now under investigation by this commission. Such action would result in unlimited confusion if this commission could alter and amend the present schedule of rates without any emergency existing. They, then, could alter and amend it as many times as they might see fit. Clearly, such abuse of discretion would be subject to judicial review. It would not bear the scrutiny of any court."

Has Delayed Hearings?

Referring to a claim by counsel for the company that counsel for the protestants were delaying the completion of the commission's investigation, attorneys for the protesting communities insisted that the company had no valid right to file its latest application "for the reason that, by its own actions, it has delayed these hearings."

"The Logan Gas Co. may argue that the protestants consumed part of this time by considering their witnesses," [illegible] counsel. "If the cities [illegible] to cross examine their witnesses then, surely, the [illegible] would [illegible] when municipalities would have a right to contest rates, and a situation would exist wherein utilities could charge patrons, or consumers, a sufficient amount of money to enrich the few people interested financially in them, at the expense of the public.

Have Equal Protection

"Such a condition of affairs was not intended by the creation of this commission, which is purely a creature of statute, inasmuch as it was intended by the framers of the law providing for the existence of this commission and the rules and regulations under which it proceeds, that the consumers should have equal protection with the utility.

"Not only has the company stopped itself from making such an application by its own action, but it has admitted that the rate being collected under bond is not confiscatory since it is now contracting or attempting to contract with other municipalities for a rate less than the one being collected under bond from customers in the various protesting communities.

Has Taken Time

Attorneys for the protestants declared that the Logan Gas Co. up to Dec. 17, last, took "all the time of this commission by the introduction of testimony."

"The Logan Gas Co. has, apparently, assumed the position that it can dictate to the commission that the cities protesting this rate may not have four months to introduce their testimony, even though it (the company) has consumed more than two years," counsel for the protestants declared.

"It raises its voice and howls at the moon and even goes so far as to set forth in its (latest) application a letter written to this commission by counsel (for the protestants) in which the commission is advised that the protestants can conclude all of their testimony within three months. Such a contention is so inconsistent and so preposterous that it will not impress the mind of any reasonable person."

clair, and the remaining $85,000 was made a gift when Sinclair learned that Hays was repaying it out of his own pocket.

"I had suffered financial losses," Hays said, in explaining this $85,000 gift, "of which Mr. Sinclair knew. He did not feel that I should bear this burden personally, and he voluntarily returned the $85,000 in securities which I had caused to be delivered to him."

Hays did not explain on the witness stand "the financial losses of which Mr. Sinclair knew," and the committee did not question him directly upon this point.

All Are Dead

Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, prosecutor of the Teapot Dome investigation, said the committee would not inquire into stories of speculation in the stock of Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co. following its lease of Teapot Dome from Fall.

Hays told the committee of his disposition of the bonds from Sinclair. He said $25,000 went to former Secretary of War John W. Weeks, $50,000 to John T. Pratt of New York, and $00,000 to Fred W. Upham, the late treasurer of the Republican National Committee. Weeks, Pratt and Upham all have died since the Senate oil investigation was launched.

"It seems strange," said Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, chairman of the committee, "that 90 per cent of the men connected with these mysterious transactions, are either dead, too sick to testify, or are in Europe."

RECORD TRAVELING YEAR IS FORECAST

Mr. and Mrs. America Planning To Spend Summer Vacationing

average of $1,250 each on a trip abroad.

Additional millions will be expended by Americans traveling by auto and train in Canada and Mexico.

The railroads expect to better the record of last year when they carried a total of 467,850,000 passengers. The tourist revenue may reach half a billion dollars.

Fully a third of the people of the country will take vacation motor tours, according to estimates of the American Automobile Association. They will spend an estimated sum of $3,500,000,000 and will burn up approximately 1,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline. This would mean that the roads of the country would be choked with an endless stream of motor vehicles.

Association officials said the United States has a gasoline pump for every mile of improved highway and a gas station to every 1.8 miles for the country.

Aviation, the infant among transportation facilities, expects to discard its swaddling clothes and assume a man's size share in the passenger business. Officials estimated that about 6,000 passengers or treble the number of last year, will be carried on regular air lines. This does not include local sight seeing and stunt flights.

Was Pioneer Resident of Marion County; Funeral Services Monday

Mrs. Martha Ellen Hord, widow of Amaziah Hutchinson Hord and daughter of the late Robert and Mrs. Mary Ann Hill, pioneer residents of Marion County, died 7:45 o'clock this morning at her home, 267 Bradford-st. She was 77 years old.

Mrs. Hord had been in failing health for several months although her condition did not become critical until early in January. Bright's disease and a complication of diseases caused her death.

Mrs. Hord was born in Marion County June 19, 1850 and has resided in Marion all of her life with the exception of eight years when she made her home on a ranch near Cheyenne, Wyo. Mr. and Mrs. Hord went west in 1881 and Mr. Hord engaged extensively in cattle raising. Mr. and Mrs. Hord were married in this city Sept 6, 1877, and Mr. Hord preceded her in death here Jan. 6, 1895. She was a lifelong member of First Presbyterian Church and an active member of the various church organizations. Mrs. Hord was a graduate of the Steubenville Seminary at Steubenville, O., and of the Marion Public Schools.

Surviving her are a daughter, Miss Geraldine Hord, at home, two sons, Peyton R. Hord of Pittsburgh, Penn., and Carey W. Hord of Sandusky, a sister, Mrs. Thomas Benton Hord of Central City, Neb., who has spent the past two months at the Hord home, a brother, Henry Hill of Marion County, and two grandchildren, Miss Eleanore Hord of Pittsburgh and Burton T. Hord of Sandusky.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Schaffner-Queen Funeral Home, E. Center-st, with Rev. Howard L. Oiewiler, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, in charge. Interment will be in Marion Cemetery.

while his mother was honored. As Mrs. Lindbergh moved hesitatingly to the center of the stage to receive the golden key of life membership in the National Education Association, her son stepped aside, and stopped the taking of moving pictures of the scene. He also had switched off a brilliant light that was nearly blinding her.

Type Nation Needs

Joseph N. Gwinn of California, an officer of the N. E. A., declared that "Lindy's" mother was being honored because she was the type of mother the nation needs to rear and teach its children. He extolled her because of her devotion to her son and her profession.

The golden key had in the foreground a little log cabin school against the background of the national capitol and a forest of trees. Then stepping close to the microphone Mrs. Lindbergh as she received the token of the educators of the land said in a slow and quiet voice:

"There are only two words with which to express gratitude: 'Thanks' and 'appreciation' and I say them both to you sincerely.

"I should like to pay tribute to two of our greatest living teachers, Calvin Coolidge and Myron T. Herrick.

Speaks for Aviation

"These men teach the doctrine of emancipation, emancipation from useless subservience and dedication to useful service and appreciation and consideration and love for our fellow-workers. I thank you sincerely."

Before the presentation Colonel Lindbergh told the audience that aviation, more and more, would be a business of the future and he urged that the study of the fundamentals of aeronautics be included in school studies.

THIS MARION MAN FREE OF AGONIES OF INDIGESTION

He Tells How Konjola Banished Two Years of Stomach Trouble

"I think I must be the happiest man in Marion, since Konjola has ended my stomach trouble, and I don't hesitate to indorse such a medicine," said Mr. J. H. Williams, well-known local citizen, living at 621 E. George St., this city.

"I had been suffering with stomach and liver trouble," said Mr. Williams. "My food would never digest right, but always seemed to turn sour and ferment. This caused gas bloating and my heart would flutter and jump until I thought it would stop beating entirely. I would become so short of breath I had to gasp for air. Dizzy spells would come over me, especially when I attempted to stoop over. Lots of times I had to catch myself to keep from falling. I was badly constipated all the time and had to take the strongest laxatives almost every night. I was in very poor health in general, and had been trying so many things without benefit that I didn't know what to do for myself.

"A friend of mine told me about Konjola and how so many people in Marion were getting wonderful results with this medicine. I got two bottles and before the first one was gone I could feel a big improvement all over my system, and as I continued with Konjola I was getting better every day. Now I feel like a different man. I can eat what I want and never have a touch of indigestion. The bloating spells never come over me, and I don't have the dizzy attacks or headaches. I have a better appetite and can sleep good at nights. My food agrees with me better than it has in two years, and I am feeling like I never had stomach trouble in my life.

"Konjola has built me up in a great many ways and I certainly am thankful for this medicine, so it is a pleasure to indorse it to everyone who is needing it."

Konjola is strongly recommended at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Gains and Losses of a Day.

The New York World was published some figures on the gains and losses sustained as a result of the extra day added to February as a result of leap year.

The World starts out by stating, by way of example, that the average yearly rental of an apartment in the metropolis is $1,200 a year or $3.29 a day for the ordinary year. Thus in a leap year, each tenant makes a gain of $3.29 and the landlord loses that amount on him. This, in New York alone, would amount to $1,000,000.

Again the man paid by the year or month must give the extra day's service free. For a man on a $3,600 salary this would mean $10 loss. Not counting military personal, the annual payroll of Uncle Sam is $789,000,000, which means a loss to federal employes of $2,000,000.

Then the World presents other figures on the days gains and losses in this form.

Gain of the United States on the interest free day for use of the money represented by the public debt—$2,156,000.

The day's interest lost on money owed to this country by foreign powers, $2,500,000.

Amount saved by banks on savings deposits, $931,000, which will be lost to the 15,000,000 depositors.

Loss to American bankers on money loaned foreign countries, states, cities and provinces, $175,000.

Loss to American bondholders, $8,000,000.

We do not pretend to know how near correct any of the foregoing figures may be—we assume that they are as close as estimates ordinarily run—but if they are even approaches to substantially correct figures, we may get from them a sort of a line on what one day means financially to the country. To a land which figures in billions, one day added to the year means gains to some and losses to others which run up into millions untold.

The Death of Diaz Mourned.

All Italy mourns the death of her foremost soldier, Marshal Armando Diaz, the super-organizer, the brilliant strategist, the dashing leader, who brought her hereditary foe to its knees and freed from the Austrian yoke her fellow countrymen of Trieste and Trentino.

Following the awful disaster of Caporetto in October of 1917, in which the armies of the Central powers made prisoners of over 200,000 Italians and captured 700 guns, it was the expectation that the entire Italian army would crumble and Italy go the way of Russia. It was easily the darkest hour for the future of Italy—in fact, for the Allied cause—but account was taken of the military genius of the Neapolitan, who the following month was to succeed General Cadorna and become supreme commander on the Austro-Italian front.

Diaz was a born soldier, the descendant of a long line of soldiers. His family's military record went back to the Napoleonic wars. He had studied war from his childhood. He had made a record in the war with Turkey and in Tripoli and in the Abyssinian and Libyan campaign, the plans of both of which were largely of his devising. His ability as an organizer was known, his record in subordinate command was a fine one, he was recognized as cool under the most trying circumstances and of a personal courage which inspired troops, he had always been a leader who led, but his ability for supreme command of an army numerically great had never been tested. However, from the time he succeeded Cadorna, a change was manifested in the morale of the Italian soldiery. He brought his troops from under the cloud of the crushing defeat of October and led them on to victory by administering one smashing blow after another. Aided by the French and British troops on the Italian front, he drove the Teutonic legions back and saved Venice, and tenaciously pressed on and on, till he finally accomplished the collapse of Austria, forcing her capitulation, which precipitated the fall of the house of Hohenzollern and hastened the end of hostilities.

Over on this side of the Atlantic, we naturally were much more interested in the events on the western front than we were in those on the southern, for it was on the western front that the great body of the American troops was engaged. Our news from the western front was more detailed than that we received from Italy. Hence we were better acquainted with the leaders on that front. But were the records of all the commanders of the World war given us with equal detail, that of this calm, silent, tenacious Italian fighter would appeal to us as one of the most striking of the entire war.

Mussolini holds the center of the Italian stage by reason of his remarkable accomplishments as dictator, by the attention he has received as a world figure, by reason of his unquestioned ability, by his striking personality. The very spectacular character of his career has had its effect. He is acclaimed as the great figure of Italy by many of his fellow-countrymen for these reasons. He is shown respect by others through fear.

But the respect, and honor, and love given Diaz came from the hearts of all the Italian people, who mourn his death as they probably would not mourn the passing of any other of their fellow-countrymen.

New York City papers report that the women there are planning to help Hoover. If Charley Hughes has the slightest bit of friendship for the secretary, he will whisper in Herb's ear not to let 'em start a special women's train of Pullmans across the country.

Prince Joachim Albrecht, of Prussia, second cousin of former Kaiser William II, a really able cellist, composer and conductor, is to conduct the Damrosch orchestra at the Metropolitan in New York March 13, which makes it as easy as falling off a log to predict that New York City is about to experience a great musical revival.

Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific research of the bureau of chemistry and soils, is of the opinion that the corn borer will be a permanent pest of the American farmer. What's he trying to do anyway—block another $10,000,000 appropriation and beat the patriots and sons of patriots out of summer jobs?

The Milwaukee young man, who inherited $1,000,000 recently, is still holding his $20-a-week job in the contracting business in New York. There's not the slightest doubt but what he is really seeking "experience," yet there must be a lot of consolation to him in the thought that he has a little rainy-day fund safely laid away against eventualities.

The Ohio supreme court has reversed the Scioto county court, which rendered a judgment for $50,000 against a Portsmouth man for breach of promise, which is as it should be. If a judgment like that were permitted to stand it would be just bound to give us men folks an exaggerated idea of our importance.

The Versailles tribunal has denied a decree of divorce to Bainbridge Colby from his "capricious" wife, holding that Colby's eleven-months residence in Paris did not give it jurisdiction so long as he had not relinquished his domicile in the United States, which is taken to mean the end of easy divorces to Americans in Paris and clouds the legality of all heretofore granted. That's as it should be. Americans should patronize home industries.

The gambling of the Dolly sisters at Cannes is now said to have netted them almost $1,000,000, which may be taken as more very much appreciated publicity for European casinos. It's worth noting that the hundreds of millions lost across the Atlantic by Americans have never been reported.

A resolution has been offered in the lower house of congress to felicitate Charles Evans Hughes and thank the other members of the American group who served with him over the splendid work done at the Havana conference. Why not? Congress [illegible] in [illegible] way expressive of [illegible] why not expose [illegible] mentality?

Roughage Wards Off Ills.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

If you were asked what is the most common of human ailments what would you answer?

The most frequently met of all complaints is that simple physical defect—constipation. No other disability is responsible for so many different symptoms.

Headache, sore throat, pain in the stomach, bloating, dizziness, sleeplessness—these are some of the many results of constipation. Loss of energy, unwillingness to do mental or physical labor—these, too, are the effects of constipation.

I am a reverent man and adore the Supreme Architect, but there is no doubt in my mind that man has ten or fifteen feet too much intestine. It was all right when we lived in a savage state and ate the rough foods of field and forest. But with the advent of modern cooking, denatured foods and softness of life, everything has changed.

If the passageway between the stomach and exit were a good deal more direct, there would be less trouble. The waste would be less likely to dam up within us a festering, fermenting mass of disease-producing material. The way we are made, plus the foods of civilized living produce a digestive condition which makes for constipation.

The natural result of our mode of living and of eating of the foods we must take, is sluggishness of bowel action. It requires constant thoughtfulness and care to prevent it. It is safe to assume that without this thoughtfulness and care in the choice of foods, constipation is sure to be present.

I am hopeful that by clanging away at the public there will be aroused ultimately an appreciation of the importance of overcoming or preventing constipation. It is not necessary to have it, of course, but you will have it unless you take heed of a few facts. It is almost as inevitable as the lives we lead. There is no doubt if our lives were but more simple, our food plainer, our habits more regular, the intestinal tract would act better. But that big "if" is in the way.

Roughage is essential to bowel action. There must be fibre and substance, or there is nothing for the walls of the intestines to get hold of to squeeze the waste material forward. That is why bran, cabbage, lettuce, celery, spinach and fibrous foods are recommended. Fruit juices and vegetables, especially fresh vegetables, are particularly important.

A tablespoonful of mineral oil daily—swallowed when the stomach is empty, three hours after eating at night, or a full half hour before breakfast will help to overcome the effects of constipation. This is a temporary expedient and, if the diet is regulated as it should be, it will not be necessary to resort to petroleum oil every day. It can be taken for an indefinite period, but if you live as you should and eat as you should it will not be necessary to depend on any medicine, even so simple and harmless a thing as petroleum oil.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

M.E. Q.—What can be done for "wild hairs" in the eyelashes? The condition seems to be aggravated by the wind and causes nervousness.

2.—What will relieve neuritis? The pains shoot down my limbs and affect the heart. Could it be due to a very serious operation some time ago?

A.—See a skin specialist who will advise proper treatment.

Max Bruch—Composer.

BY COZETTE DOUGLASS.

Born in Cologne on January 6, 1838, Max Bruch received his first musical education from his mother, who was a prominent singer of the time. Later, he went to Bonn, where he studied under Breidenstein. Under Breidenstein's tutelage, he composed his first symphony, which was produced when he was but fourteen years of age.

At the age of fifteen, Bruch won the four-year scholarship of the Mozart foundation, which allowed him 400 gulden a year for four years' study at Frankfort. Here Bruch studied under such masters as Hiller, Reinicke and Breuning.

After completing this course, Bruch returned to Cologne where he gave pianoforte lessons for three years. In 1858 his first opera, "Scherz, List und Rachel," was produced at Cologne.

On his father's death in 1861, Bruch left Cologne and toured Germany, studying in the various cities and in 1863 while in Mannheim his lovely opera "Lorelei" was produced. He lived in Mannheim for a time and some of his loveliest compositions were written during his stay in this city, among them being the beautiful choral "Frithjof."

From 1865 to 1867 Bruch was musical director at Cologne and from 1867 until 1870 was hofkappelmeister at Sondershausen. While living in Berlin 1871-73 he produced his opera "Hermione," which was based on Shakespeare's "Winter's Tale." This met with poor success.

In 1873 Bruch returned to Bonn, and with the exception of two journeys to England, devoted most of his time to composition, producing during this period 1873-78 two of his most famous chorals, "Arminius," and "Das Lied von der Glocke."

In 1881 Bruch married the singer Fraulein Klara Tuczek and in 1883 visited the United States, where he brought out "Arminius" at Boston.

Bruch retired in 1910, giving up his various positions and went to live at Friedenau near Berlin. He was the recipient of many honors from the various countries which he visited.

Bruch died at Vienna on September 17, 1907. The list of his compositions is long, but perhaps his chief claim to fame lies in his development of the secular oratoria, which previous to his time had received but little attention from the composers.

Editorial Comment.

TROTZKY AND THE RED ARMY

With Leon Trotzky removed from the stage of soviet politics, Joseph Stalin apparently hopes to blot even the name of his adversary off the pages of history.

Such at least is the impression to be had from reading the panegyrics published by government and party papers in connection with the tenth anniversary of the red army. Doubtless to please Dictator Stalin, the editors did everything to avoid the mention of the exile as founder and for years moving spirit of Russia's new revolutionary militarism. The credit is distributed among several of the earlier bolshevist leaders, including Lenin. The man who first rallied and then led the fighting forces is passed over in silence. That man was Trotzky.

It will scarcely be like the former war commissar to accept such eclipse without protest. For Trotzky has a reputation to safeguard. After a war-weary Europe had demobilized, with the world eager to discover some short cut to relief from the curse of large armies, under Trotzky's [illegible] soviet Russia built up a military establishment with which no other European nation could vie. While [illegible] training and efficiency it leaves much to be desired, the red army is the biggest [illegible] of its kind in existence, and today, even without Trotzky's leadership, it remains a nightmare to Russia's neighbors.

With this army of his making Trotzky never accomplished anything even remotely reminiscent of Napoleon, but he at least had a Napoleonic temper in that he dreamed of conquering the entire world in the interests of communism. This dream fizzled pathetically after a venture or two, but it was something for an upstart revolutionist to have accounted the outstanding militarist of his time.—Detroit Free Press.

The Story of the Twins.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

[illegible] the arch of the [illegible] Milky [illegible] the constellation Gemini, [illegible] for many ages [illegible] Castor and Pollux [illegible] the jeweled stream [illegible] flows above the head [illegible] the golden [illegible] of the [illegible] Heavenly Bull.

[illegible] are found [illegible] the northern [illegible] Castor, now [illegible] brother [illegible] Pollux [illegible] which appears [illegible] the two [illegible] seconds of arc apart [illegible] pair of diamonds [illegible]. It was one of [illegible] most noted discoveries [illegible] held by gravitation [illegible] to revolve around their [illegible]. Their period of revolution [illegible] each one of the pair [illegible] speed of revolution [illegible] its composing one of them [illegible] around their center of [illegible] days, and those of the [illegible] days. How strange a [illegible] to play shining [illegible]!

[illegible] Castor and Pollux mark each [illegible] of the immortal twin [illegible] of Jupiter and Leda, and [illegible] of Helen of Troy who, ancient legends [illegible] was translated to the sky after being [illegible] warfare after the Argonautic expedition. [illegible] all through Roman history [illegible] the belief prevailing that [illegible] "the Great Twin Brethren" [illegible] upon earth to turn the tide of battle at [illegible], as Macaulay describes in his "Lays of Ancient Rome." They were also regarded as the friends of mariners, who prayed to them for aid in storms at sea, and looked [illegible] upon their symbols, the "St. Elmo's Lights" that occasionally glow at the mast-heads of ships in electric weather. Their double quality as allies in battle and saviors in tempests is indicated in one of Macaulay's stanzas:

"Back comes the chief in triumph
Who in the hour of fight
Hath seen the great Twin Brethren
In harness on his right.
And safe comes the ship to haven
Through billows and through gales,
If once the great Twin Brethren
Sit shining on her sails."

In that alluring story of the adventures of St. Paul, which is usually printed under the title of "The Acts"—and in which, by the way, Emil Ludwig might find a capital subject for another popular biography—it is recorded that when Paul, after his disastrous shipwreck and his winter in an isle of refuge, at length set sail again for Rome, to carry out his bold appeal to Caesar, he embarked in "a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the isle and whose sign was "The Twin Brethren." There you see the old legend in all its strength swaying the minds of men in the midst of their most important affairs, very much as when Hannibal was ravaging Italy, the senate of Rome would not send forth an army to meet him until the state had been purified, under the direction of the haruspices, from the evil consequences of such prodigies as crows having built a nest in the temple of Juno Sospita, a green palm tree having burnt itself up in Apulia, and a "blood rain" having fallen in the cattle market!

But it is well that the constellations which recall and commemorate these old stories and superstitions have not been ejected from the astronomers' maps, not merely because they are chartographically important, but because they maintain the atmosphere of the humanities around the sublimest objects that are presented to man for his contemplation.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Coast of Normandy.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

Havre, March 2—The coast of Normandy [illegible] another perpetual drizzle and the [illegible] Passengers debark [illegible] a huge shed where the boat train [illegible] peanut stand whistle awaits for [illegible] hour trip to Paris.

The boat train is a preliminary [illegible] with plenty of popping corks and organized [illegible]. It expresses [illegible] gaiety peculiar to France. [illegible] doctors as well as the gray uniformed [illegible] women add their good humor to what [illegible]—hooray!

On the outskirts of the town, little [illegible] girls in [illegible] along the [illegible] the coaches with outstretched hands, [illegible] "[illegible] and [illegible] shower centime pieces from windows [illegible] scramble. Mothers stand in the background with mingled expressions of pleasure and [illegible] embarrassment.

Rural France is always the same. [illegible] peasant women toiling in the [illegible] with their men. Roly-poly bodied [illegible] horses pulling ponderous two-wheeled [illegible]. And here and there an ancient chateau [illegible] brick walled garden, dove cote and [illegible] come to life.

France utilizes every inch of farming [illegible]. There are little orchards that would [illegible] central park and truck gardens the [illegible] as immaculate and well kept [illegible] Fifth avenue window display. There [illegible] farms with patches of violets, tiny [illegible] and belts of ploughed land as though [illegible] from a play box. You have an impression every one is working for the glory of France these days.

The first step is at Rouen, where Joan d'Arc etched her illustrious name on the immortal scroll. On the station platform a tandem team of black goats drew a [illegible] wagon along the train side to assuage [illegible] this time had become an extremely dry thirst. After all one can only hold so much.

Along the country road-side workers were pedaling to their daily tasks with wine [illegible] strapped to the handle bars. The bicycle is the French laborer's flivver.

On the banks of the Seine stood [illegible] mobile fishermen with their side-slag baskets and [illegible] poles. The Seine fisherman is a supreme lesson in optimism. He stands day after day with rarely a catch. He was there before the revolution and he will remain as long as hope springs eternal. He has been caricatured, editorialized and poetized into a national joke—but there he stands and [illegible] how you warm pleasantly to his inexhaustible patience.

O, yes—the young girl who came across without the passport evidently out-talked the passport snatchers, for there she sat in a compartment of the boat train puffing her cigarette and smart-cracking with a circle of boy friends. And here I was worrying all the way across because the expiration of my vise was slightly blurred.

France's amiable attitude toward dogs is a constant glow for dog lovers. The train conductor suggested mine might occupy a vacant compartment adjoining with the compliments of the Chemins de Fer Etat. And a garçon from the diner brought him a huge bowl of chopped meat.

A Frenchman is the world's best wielder of the toothpick. He does his work openly and unashamed, in contrast to his Broadway brother who imagines he fools the multitude behind a napkin. One in the diner today seemed especially adroit. He had an upward and downward stroke coupled with a ball bearing motion that—as you vulgar Americans have it—is vo-deo-do.

The outskirts of Paris indicate nothing of the lure beyond. The tumbledown [illegible] is extremely depressing. It is like going through the shabby streets of Chinatown to reach Fifth avenue. Porters swarm through the windows—and here we are in the Gare St. Lazarre. It was a nice buggy ride.—Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Dr. Copeland Says:

"Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many cathartic [illegible]ds. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. In their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes they are far less irritating. Indeed, many have qualities that make them soothing and healing. Sugar-coated pills are pleasant to take, which may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic because they appeal to the taste."

Pluto Water, with its mineral content, flushes the bowels and washes away impurities. It is gentle, soothing, healing, non-habit-forming. Corrects constipation and restores normal bowel movements. Acts in 30 minutes to 2 hours.

THEN ALL-BRAN SAVED HIM FROM CONSTIPATION

A message for people who use laxatives

Mr. Skiles wrote us a voluntary testimonial after Kellogg's ALL-BRAN had saved him from dreadful constipation. Read his tribute:

July 12, 1927

"For years I have been so constipated. After trying every kind of drug possible, I could only get temporary relief. I became discouraged and gave up hopes, when a friend told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I had read so many testimonials I had no faith. I was of the opinion testimonials were put out by friends. I will not only give you the privilege to use my name, but I will go on the witness stand and testify to my statement. I cannot express words great enough to meet with Kellogg's food."—ARTHUR SKILES, 825 N. Keizie Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If constipation is preying upon your health, check it before too late. If you are using habit-forming laxatives, stop it before this harmful practice fastens its grip too tight.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. [illegible] sen- [illegible] Singapore—far from [illegible] Bob Kingsley stood [illegible] Java Dick that he [illegible] the walls on either [illegible] they a most [illegible]

[illegible] This [illegible] Java [illegible] a few steps ahead [illegible] had any luck, it [illegible] in Singapore—in [illegible] wanted it known [illegible] his pocket. A [illegible] savage chuckle [illegible] Not quite intact [illegible] He was [illegible] the other [illegible] Repeating [illegible] beneath the [illegible] was still a pellet [illegible] to be found [illegible] letter—but [illegible] When [illegible] after- [illegible] been to go ashore [illegible] as nearly alike [illegible] to the original [illegible] had re- [illegible] from the alphabet at haphazard, had produced a very creditably imitated bit of penmanship. Again he chuckled. The original cipher, quite as meaningless to him as was his own creation, was at the moment carefully and securely hidden in the cabin of the Alma!

His hand, snuggling [illegible] was thrust now into the side pocket of his jacket. Java Dick's! He had chosen the place for his "broadcasting station," as it were, because it was perhaps the most vicious of its like in Singapore, and the most cosmopolitan—if that term could be applied in a restricted sense to the native races. It was a melting pot of Bugis, of Negritos, of Battas, of Klings, of Malays, of Chinamen—of God knew what! Also, he had chosen it because he was better known to Java Dick than to any of the other unsavory proprietors of like dens who leeched their livelihood from the same depraved sources; and, likewise, Java Dick was better known to him than were any of the man's sordid contemporaries — though he could not say that he knew Java Dick intimately, or knew overmuch about the others, for no one seemed to know Java Dick's detailed history, or how he had even come by his name. The man's origin, racially appeared to have been lost in the obscurity of several generations of mixed and probably questionable matings; but, though the East in him predominated and he looked more like a misshapen brown dwarf than anything else, Java Dick admittedly had white blood, and his English was even Cockney in its accent—though Heaven alone knew how he came by it! In any case, it was through Java Dick, though quite inadvertently, that he, Bob Kingsley, had ever had an entree into the native underworld at all. Java Dick, ostensibly, was a boss washerman. A sign proclaimed that fact in front of Java Dick's establishment. There was no reason to doubt it, and indeed Java Dick's business [illegible] lucrative and well. He, Bob Kingsley, on one of his trips to Singapore, had taken some washing [illegible] Java Dick had heard of Black Bob Kingsley, and [illegible] standard of morals [illegible] most universally [illegible] no morals [illegible] Java Dick had waxed gracious. He, Bob Kingsley, had been taken behind the scenes and had learned that the [illegible] signs of native [illegible] of the doors [illegible] Java Dick's were not all that they seemed to be, either! And then Java Dick had [illegible] at large profits [illegible] in the opium trade [illegible] schooner. The proposal had been not rudely or indignantly, but smilingly and with some [illegible] refused. Why make enemies unnecessarily?

"Well, maybe—eh? Maybe some other time—eh?" Java Dick had said.

That was five years ago. The opium cruise had never been undertaken and never would be undertaken, but on several occasions when the Alma was in Singapore he, Bob Kingsley, had revisited Java Dick's and the various other similar places where Java Dick introduced him. Not that he might indulge in depravity himself—a white man who had any self-respect did not mess around in such quarters!—but the starkness of it interested him, and a certain element of danger, always latent in the unexpected where the line of demarcation between beast and human was so nearly at the vanishing point, lured him, as somehow, he did not know why, danger and excitement had always lured him. He remembered now, for instance, the night in Java Dick's that the old Singhalese cripple, gambling for the few pence that were his all, and, blind with fury at being cheated, had pinned the dealer's hand to the table with a sudden, lightning-like blow that left the knife embedded deep in the wood below, its haft quivering like a tuning fork above the spitted flesh; and then the inferno that—

A voice at his elbow whispered out of the darkness, whining for alms. Oh, yes, he remembered that, too! Java Dick's sentinel! He was at the rear of Java Dick's place now, and had, indeed, been feeling out along the wall for the entrance that he knew was somewhere within a few yards of him. He could just make out a dark form looming up in front of him, blocking his way, as the whine came again. He answered the challenge with his name.

"Black Bob," he said—and lurched suddenly as though decidedly unsteady on his feet. A fine degree of apparent intoxication would account to Java Dick for any uninvited confidences—and would stamp as wholly natural and genuine in the eyes of Java Dick's clientele actions which might otherwise arouse the suspicion that behind them was some ulterior motive. In any case it was the role that he had made up his mind to play. "Black Bob," he repeated. "I want to see Java Dick."

"Black Bob? Velly all light!" replied the voice instantly in pidgin English. "Catchee door quick!"

Where there had been no sign of a door before, one opened now, throwing a dull and momentary yellow glow out into the alleyway. Bob Kingsley stepped, or, rather, staggered forward, and the door closed behind him.

A yard ahead of him, a fiber hanging swayed and rattled a little in the draft of air made by the opening and closing of the door. Through the hanging seeped the yellow glow of light; from behind it a faint, confused medley of sounds reached his ears—the low, constant chatter of voices that was like a prolonged murmur, the scuffling of bare or slippered feet, the stir of human movement; and to his nostrils came the sweet, sickish, unmistakable odor of the only incense that was ever burned within a shrine consecrated to the god of poppy.

His cap was cocked down a little over one eye, his shirt was loosened at the neck, and he smiled owlishly as he pushed the hanging aside and stared around him! The same old Chinaman was here who had been here five years ago—and was still engaged in ironing what was probably the same shirt! Just a small room—just the back of a laundry! The old Chinaman was wizened and looked half-witted. The same old Chinaman, however, was possessed of gifts that ranked him high in intellectual attainment, and peculiarly fitted him for the responsible office that he held. All the tongues of the East and not a few of Europe were fluently at his command; and it was Java Dick's boast that the man had [illegible] a name.

"Black [illegible]

KIDNEYS MUST HAVE PLENTY OF WATER

Also Take Salts Occasionally if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.—Adv.

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

THE wind was [illegible] off the lake [illegible] and [illegible] cold, but it was a kind of a [illegible] that I didn't like so very well, and Jubilee didn't like it either when I [illegible] down. It was not warm enough to melt the snow, but it was too warm for [illegible] snow any more.

When I had [illegible] and went out to the barn [illegible] paid none of the bunch [illegible] and Hopper and Maggie [illegible] that got fascinated on her leg [illegible] They hadn't [illegible] when the bunch tumbled [illegible] kitchen, and when I had got [illegible] they all went in the [illegible] and my mother gave each of [illegible] a glass of milk, and [illegible] the bunch was all going to [illegible] wished I would not [illegible] them but I would [illegible] Feeble and Younise and Maggie [illegible] Feeble and Hopper. [illegible] sipping her glass of milk [illegible] my mother I am a young [illegible] my mother said [illegible] Feeble told her [illegible] I done to her [illegible] what I had done [illegible] squirted my face [illegible] she said, "There, [illegible] done to me!" My mother [illegible] Aristides, I [illegible] I" Then Feeble [illegible] to what he done to the horse," and my mother [illegible] what I had done, and she [illegible] want to tell. I was thinking about the [illegible] the horse's tail, and Feeble knew [illegible] what I was thinking of, and I was scairt cold. My mother kept coaxing her to tell, till finely she said I had made the horse carry four legs at one time. Then she looked cross-eyed at me and I grinned at her, and the rest of the bunch grinned and my mother laughed, and she gave each of them a piece of cherry pie and a glass of milk and me a piece of cherry pie.

When we were going out of the door I was ahead of the bunch and was laughing and talking to [illegible] who was jumping up and down, and Hopper got his crutch between Feeble's feet, and when she felt herself going she gave a jump and landed on my neck and I went down on my face with her on top of me. It was a good thing for my nose there was snow on the ground. My mother made [illegible] and [illegible] at it that I wiped off [illegible] as soon as I got outside. Hopper said he was sorry. I told him that was all right. He couldn't help it because she jumped on my neck. But I told him to let her alone, for she is worse than the Lost Bag of Tripe. She grinned at me all through school.

I played checkers with my grandfather because it was Saturday night. And Annabelle Lee sat in his lap and he leaned over and spit on her. I got sent to bed for laughing. I wonder what they think I am.

See Reed's Entry into California As Important Move

SHOWDOWN ON SMITH NOW UP

New York Candidate's Friends Have Claimed State Since McAdoo's Withdrawal

Washington, March 2 — Senator James A. Reed's entry into the California primary to "fight it out" with other aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination was regarded by Democratic leaders in Washington today as an event of outstanding political importance and significance.

It means, they believe, a showdown that will throw a lot of light on the question that buzzes continually in Democratic quarters these days, to wit: "Can Smith be stopped?"

Four years ago, California's 26 delegates were for William G. McAdoo. For 103 weary ballots they went down the line for McAdoo without wavering or faltering. McAdoo announced his withdrawal from the 1928 race a year ago, and since that time the Smith people have claimed California's 26 delegates in the '28 convention for their own. The New York governor has many friends in the state and they have been laboring industriously in his behalf.

Alters Situation

Reed's announcement that his hat is in the California ring, and that a slate of Reed delegates will be presented in every district in the primary of May 1 now alters the situation very materially. Where the Smith people had expected an easy conquest or no contest at all it now becomes evident that there is to be a real battle for 26 delegates unless the Smith managers evade the issue, and no one here believes they will.

Senator Reed's announcement of his militant candidacy in California caused considerable surprise among his followers here. When the Missourian left the capital on his speaking tour through the West it was understood by his friends that he [illegible] Smith [illegible] promise candidate [illegible] Houston convention [illegible] to [illegible]

Change in Strategy

His going into the [illegible] Golden State, however, [illegible] has been a [illegible] Missourian [illegible] that he [illegible] of Democratic [illegible] McAdoo [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Democratic leaders [illegible] Most of them [illegible] McAdoo withdrawal, [illegible] would [illegible] to concede Smith the [illegible] though they have been [illegible] upon [illegible] people [illegible] rather than upon the [illegible] prominence of [illegible] along the Pacific. There are few of these, however, who believe that Reed, with his acknowledged political sagacity, would elect to enter the contest there unless he thought he had a good chance of winning. Hence the [illegible] today.

John H. [illegible], Marion [illegible] merchant, will testify [illegible] fact.

For Feb. 29 Mr. [illegible] advertised women's hose at reduced prices. It was his intention to announce that a brand of hose selling regularly at $1.95 would be marked down 29 cents for the day. Instead he inserted the figure $1.29.

Patrons of his store, knowing full well the value of this particular brand of hose, marveled at the price cut. They acted accordingly and rushed to the store to take advantage of the offer.

In keeping with the store's policy the management made good the terms of the ad and the sale all but wiped out the stock of hose.

THROUGH all these years there still is one line of endeavor that has [illegible] the assaults of members of the female species.

Of course, if your imagination is exceptionally good you could visualize a woman acting as brakeman on a fast freight train, or firing the locomotive [illegible] heavy [illegible] tons of freight [illegible]

A check in Marion has revealed [illegible] operation of railroads ever will [illegible] a man's job. As a matter of fact a veteran railroader pointed out the number of women employed in transportation [illegible] has decreased since the World War.

During the war the shortage of man power compelled railroad officials to utilize women in various branches of office work. When the war closed, soldiers who had given up their positions to fight for the country were given back their old jobs.

With the exception of stenographic work, bookkeeping and similar lines of employment very few women seek work with railroads. One of the principal reasons for this, it was pointed out here, is that women are adapted only to certain lines of work and cannot be promoted to some other branch.

Another railroader pointed out that the very nature of railroad work eliminates women. He said that women are not strong enough to hold down most of the jobs.

This will probably be the case throughout all time, or at least, as

Intimate Glimpses into the Lives of Members of the Marion County Bar

BY HARRY S. ELLIOTT

In November of 1924 Marion County's voters went to the polls and elected, among other officials, a 23-year-old prosecuting attorney.

Whereupon there was considerable [illegible] on the part of some citizens who surmised that the electorate had made a serious mistake. Not that they [illegible] a successful administration for the youthful prosecutor, but they feared that solely because of his lack of years and experience he would [illegible] to handle the [illegible].

It was [illegible] by these [illegible] that election of [illegible] would [illegible] for the county. Certainly he would not be able to battle singlehanded against older and more experienced attorneys and that would mean employing assistants for him in practically all of his cases.

Naturally, under these circumstances, the taxpayers would foot the bill.

These forecasts, however, came from persons who were not thoroughly acquainted with the new prosecutor. They merely knew that he was 23 years of age and measured him accordingly.

On Fourth Year

The prosecuting attorney in question is Frank Wiedemann, who is now in his fourth year in office. His record up to this time apparently is sufficient to show that all fears expressed because of his youth were groundless.

As prosecuting attorney, Wiedemann has represented the taxpayers in several hundred court trials, including both county and township matters, and has had assistance at the public's expense in only one case. That was in a civil suit which was unusually complicated and important and necessitated the services of co-counsel.

All criminal cases, with few exceptions, have been prosecuted by Wiedemann without the aid of associate counsel. Where he has had assistance it has been provided by outside sources and has cost the taxpayers nothing.

Loses Three Cases

Born in Marion

Wiedemann was born [illegible] March 14, 1901, [illegible] son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Wiedemann. He was started out in life as James Frank Wiedemann but for some reason his acquaintances never seemed to think that "James" fit properly and that part of his original title gradually passed into disuse.

He obtained his preliminary education in the local schools and graduated from Harding High School in 1920. From there he went to Ohio Northern University at Ada, receiving his degree in the law school in 1923. He was admitted to the bar on July 19 of the same year.

After two months in the law office of J. W. Jacoby, Wiedemann opened up an office of his own and in January of 1924 entered into partnership with Carter M. Patton. This partnership continues under the firm name of Wiedemann & Patton.

Boyhood Choice

Law was Wiedemann's choice of a career in his boyhood years, and he worked toward that goal throughout his school life.

In his more than three years as prosecutor, he has naturally formed some personal opinions regarding steps which should be taken to hold criminal activities in check. He says that the Ohio Bar Association has drawn up a proposed code of criminal court procedure which he believes will bring about decidedly beneficial results if adopted by the legislature. It will provide [illegible] delays. This, Wiedemann thinks, will go a long way toward [illegible] the problem.

The time will come, the prosecutor believes, when attorneys of this country will be divided into two classifications as in England, some [illegible] as advocates and the [illegible]lors.

Under this system advocates appear in the trial of cases [illegible] are restricted alone [illegible] practice, as the name implies.

Under this plan with trial [illegible] in the hands of lawyers especially trained for such proceedings, disposal of cases is certain to be [illegible] much speedier and [illegible], Wiedemann says.

Favors Domestic Court

The prosecutor also favors establishment of a separate court in counties of this size and larger for handling domestic relations and juvenile cases. This referral, which also is advocated by Probate Judge [illegible] Neal, would in Wiedemann's opinion, [illegible]

CONNECTICUT DRYS SPLIT; UNION QUITS LEAGUERS

Hartford, Conn. — The Anti-Saloon League in Connecticut and the Connecticut Temperance Union have divorced themselves. With the announcement of the divorce the Union has issued a plea to Connecticut voters to "keep the nation dry," contending that issue is coming before the public in the election of November.

Of the divorce E. Stanley Wells, the Union's president, says the separation was due to the fact that Union members "will be likely in a short time to find themselves out of sympathy with and be obliged to retire from the Anti-Saloon League." The merger lasted a year, the Union supplying funds to the League.

DR. J. D. DARLING IS RECUPERATING HERE

[illegible] Wesley M. E. Pastor [illegible] Give Up Pastorate [illegible] Camden

[illegible] pastorate of the [illegible] Camden on account [illegible] J. D. Darling, for [illegible] Wesley M. E. [illegible] and [illegible] temporarily with [illegible] Mr. and [illegible] several days [illegible] breakdown [illegible] and [illegible] the present time.

His [illegible] condition, however [illegible] to give up his [illegible] duties for at least the spring and summer months.

Dr. Darling left here in September for Camden where he had accepted the pastorate of the smaller church in the hopes that lessened duties would permit him to regain his fast-failing health. He will remain at the Kauble home until next fall when he hopes to resume his pastoral duties.

Dr. Darling has been in the ministry for 36 years, seven of which were devoted to services here. When he left Tuesday, the village was for the first time in 50 years without a resident pastor although there are three churches, Presbyterian, Methodist and Brethren there. Dr. Darling's resignation as pastor of Camden Church became effective yesterday.

Miss Mollie Thompson, a cousin of Dr. Darling with whom he has been making his home, returned to Marion with him.

MRS. HEBER VOTAW SUES REAL ESTATE BROKER

Mrs. Carolyn H. Votaw, Washington, wife of Rev. Heber Votaw, and sister of the late President Harding, has filed suit in the District Supreme Court, Washington, to recover $1,000 from Cyrus Simmons, real estate broker, according to Washington dispatches.

The money is alleged to be represented by a promissory note dated May 13, 1926.

NO DATE IS SET FOR FINISHING STATION

Progress of Work Will Depend Upon Weather, Officials in Charge Say

With work of laying brick made uncertain by the cold weather no date for the completion of the C. D. & M. Electric Company's new passenger and freight station on W. Center st. could be given by those in charge of the building today.

Working on the days when the temperature was above the freezing point, brick masons have put up the walls of the passenger station to the top of the first story windows. They were unable to work yesterday, however, because of the cold weather.

Pouring Concrete

Concrete is being poured for the first floor of the freight building. Laying of brick for this part of the structure will start as soon as this is completed, it was announced yesterday and the work will be carried on each day that the weather will permit in an effort to complete the building as early as possible.

It was first planned to have the building completed to a point where it could be occupied by April 1, the date when the lease on the present interurban station on N. State st. expires. This now will be out of the question, it is said, and what action will be taken by Canby Lodge, No. 51, K. of P., which has purchased the building and expected to take possession on April 1, is not known. The question, it is said by members of the order will be brought up for discussion at the meeting of the lodge this week.

OHIO NEWS

OHIO RANKS SECOND IN CHEESE INDUSTRY

Columbus, March 2—The state of Ohio ranks second in the Swiss cheese manufacturing industry of the United States, according to Prof. P. B. Stoltz of the department of agriculture at the Ohio State University.

Wisconsin is first in production but Ohioans claim the best quality.

More than two million pounds of Swiss cheese are manufactured in Ohio annually. Most of it comes from Holmes, Tuscarawas and eastern Ohio counties, though in reality a huge cold storage plant at Sugar Creek is the center of the Buckeye state's cheese industry. Cheese made in Ohio is shipped to New York City in carload lots.

VANS TO LIVE "HIGH" IN NEW BUILDING

Cleveland, March 2—O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, Nickel Plate Railway magnates, builders of Cleveland's new Union Terminal Building, which cost $90,000,000, will occupy living quarters on sections of the tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth floors of the 54-story structure.

Agosta Trims Calvary To Keep S. S. League Leadership

EPWORTH M. E. FIVE HOLDS FIFTH PLACE AFTER LOSING GAME

Central Christians Win Close Game from Waldo on "Y" Court

By virtue of a 61 to 22 victory over Calvary Evangelical last night, Agosta cagers today continued to lead the Marion County Sunday School basketball league, a lead taken last week.

Although the lead is very small it looks as though the western Marion County team would win the last half pennant of the league. The season will close next week.

Epworth dropped from a tie for second place down to fifth after being defeated on the Y. M. C. A. floor by Trinity. The score was 32 to 28. Epworth has apparently dropped out of the running for the second half title after going undefeated the first round. R. Merchant led the scoring of the victors, caging five baskets for a total of 10 points. Trinity was ahead at the half, 15 to 11.

Trailing six points at the half, Waldo basketeers gave Central Christian a terrible scare in the final period but a rally fell short. Central Christian won, 24 to 21.

The victory gave the winners a tie for second place with Trinity. It was the consistent scoring of Rinnert that gave the Christians the contest. He caged four field goals and two fouls.

The league leaders played on their own floor and completely outclassed Calvary. Agosta held a big lead at the half and continued to score often in the final frame.

ELIMINATION FIGHT BIG SUCCESS, BOTH FIGHTERS LOOK BAD

Heeney Given Decision Over Jack Delaney After Hectic Battle

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

[illegible] York, March 2—[illegible]

[illegible]

Still a lot of the [illegible] from these [illegible] reason. [illegible] and for some reason [illegible] force. [illegible] with that Palmer [illegible]

Not Mislaid

The "elimination" was not mislaid. It was in there writing so people [illegible] that it was obvious to the 18,000 odd and a sorted [illegible] that was Mr. Rickard, [illegible] for a [illegible] called this an elimination tournament. He, Mr. Rickard, and it, the tournament, eliminated not one man but both last night.

Meanwhile, brother Tunney [illegible] himself in Miami waiting for an opponent for his June fight. Brother Tunney is a patient man and all that, but it is hardly possible that today he seriously considers either Heeney or Delaney as other than a bright, young man with perfect table manners.

Eleven days hence, they will hold another of these disqualifying rounds between Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko but no one looks forward to his with glee or anticipation. It just doesn't seem to be in the deck for one of these things to develop anything except a pain in the neck.

Oth Bouts Terrible.

Sharkey and Heeney met early in January and were terrible. Paulino and Godfrey fought, or did something, in Los Angeles a few night ago and were awful. Delaney and Heeney had it out last night and were terrible or [illegible] or both.

Heeney tried all the way, a fact that probably earned him the "duke." He had nearly twenty pounds in weight on his man and wanted to [illegible] just what he could do with it. But Delaney would have no part of this, holding so desperately in close [illegible] pulled him all over the ring in his rage to break loose.

Holding Made Fight Worse

Delaney's holding, however, simply served to make a bad fight look worse. Any good heavyweight could make the fragile Delaney fold up before the end of 15 rounds. The same good man could pop Heeney silly with a fast left. Unfortunately, the last good man seen around these parts happens to be the best there is, i. e., brother Tunney.

A total of $174,111 was in the house last night and the paid admissions numbered 18,000. The last nine being the smart mugs. They came late and left early.

The boys who buy them and sell them at a slight advance were thrown for a loss behind their own goal line.

"Sell you a ringside seat," they said, importunately, at the Garden approaches. "Sell it cheap," they added, as though that settled it.

All the writer can say is that the only cheap seat last night was held by a man on a bench in Central Park and watched the swans paddle angrily over peanut shells. He, at least, knew that the principals really disliked each other a little bit.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At New York—Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight, won decision over Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., former light heavyweight champion (15).

Pierre Charles, Belgian heavyweight, knocked out Jack McCann, St. Paul (1).

Jackie Brady, Syracuse, N. Y., won over Sammy Vogel, New York (6).

Roy Boston, New York heavyweight, scored technical knockout over Pedro Lopez, Wheeling, W. Va. (2).

At Buenos Aires—Luis Rayo, of Spain, European lightweight champion, won decision over Vittorio Venturi, of Italy (12).

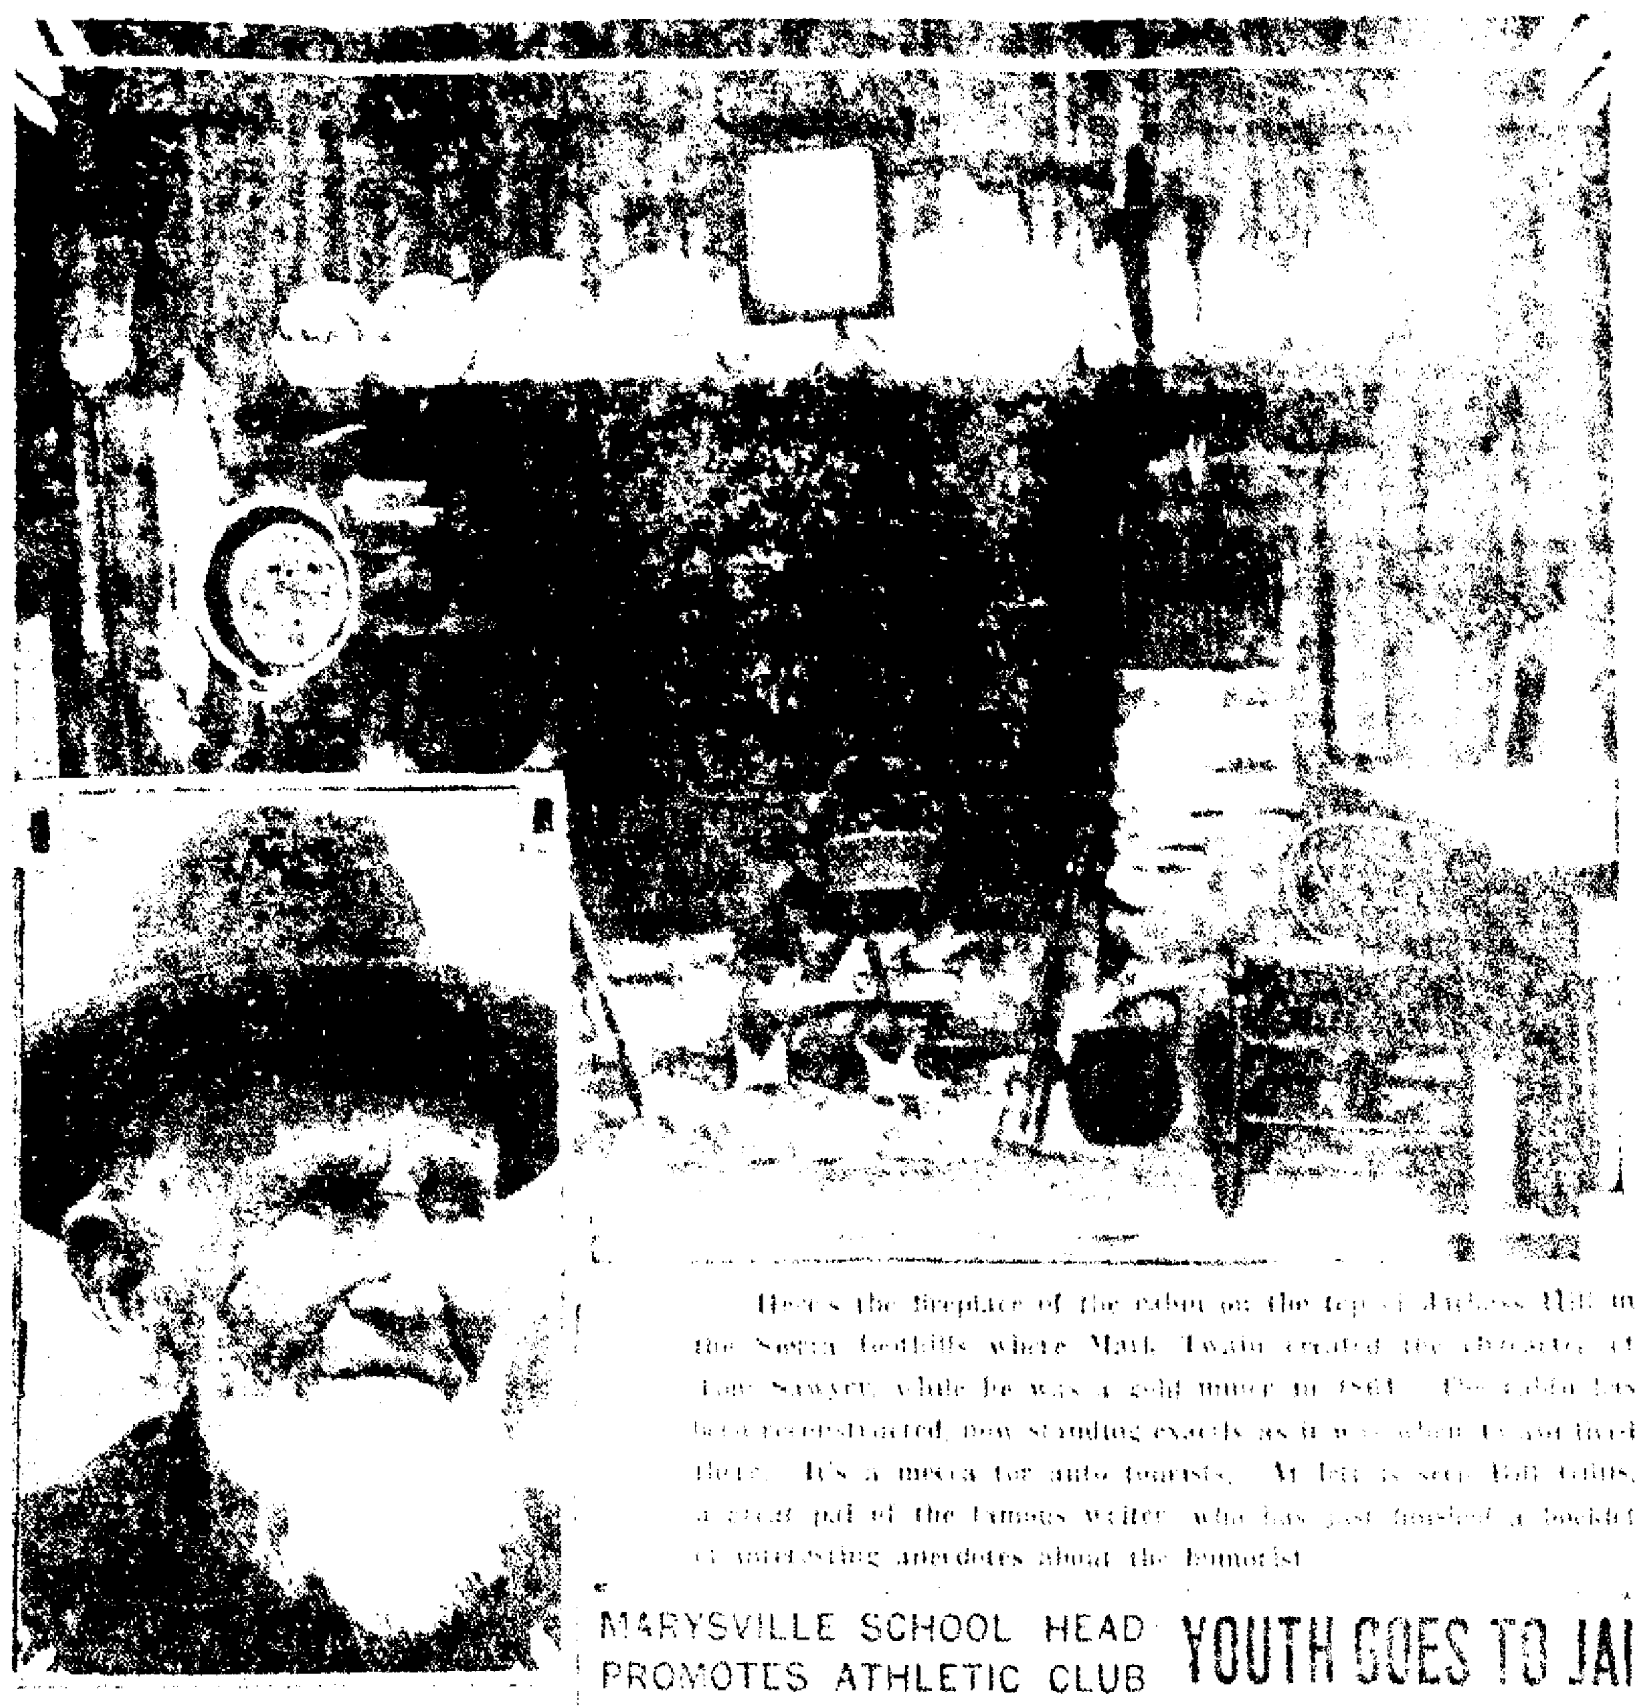
WHERE TOM SAWYER SPRANG FROM MARK TWAIN'S PEN



Here's the fireplace of the cabin on the top of Jackass Hill in the Sierra foothills where Mark Twain created the character of Tom Sawyer, while he was a gold miner in 1864. The cabin has been reconstructed, now standing exactly as it was when Twain lived there. It's a mecca for auto tourists. At left is seen Bill Gillis, a great pal of the famous writer, who has just finished a booklet of interesting anecdotes about the humorist.

FOUR TEAMS IN COUNTY PLAY

Union County Will Be Well Represented in Delaware Cage Tourney

Marysville, March 2—When the Central Ohio District tournament opens at the Ohio Wesleyan gym at Delaware today four Union County teams will be represented. Marysville takes part in the tourney because of not playing in the county tournament and being a county seat team. New Dover won the right to represent the county by winning the county tournament and Magnetic Springs and Raymond will go as seconds.

Chances Good

Of the four teams representing the county, two have a very good chance of playing in the finals and probably being the first Union County basketball team to win a district championship in basketball. New Dover went to the semi-finals in the tournament two years ago, and would have probably gone just as far last year, had not several members of the team been taken ill. The Marysville team was pulled out of the race in the semi-finals last year when it was defeated by Upper Arlington, a team it had defeated earlier in the season.

According to the "dope" bucket, Marysville and Hyatts, the latter the present champions, seem to be the best bets as the winners. Granville is also ranked in the class, but little is known here as to the strength of this team, as they did not play the locals. New Dover is giving a rating with Upper Arlington and Grandview, of Columbus.

Marysville was defeated by Hyatts a few weeks ago, while the locals were in a slump. New Dover then defeated the district champions by a large score on the local court. Delaware claiming three victories over Hyatts, was later defeated by Marysville.

In the drawings held this week Marysville picked Pataskala as its first opponent. If the locals win over this team which is believed quite probable, they will have more clear sailing weather in that they will meet either Monroe Township or New Holland, and a win over either of these two teams will entitle Marysville to play in the second day's games.

Magnetic Springs drew Alexandria as its first opponent. The health resort boys may have an easy time in their first game but Hyatts is expected to give them a good bit of trouble. New Dover will meet New Albany and Raymond will tie up with Prospect in the first round.

TO PLAN ACTION

City of Kenton Seeks To Collect Assessments on Sewer

Kenton, March 2—Just what action the City of Kenton will take in the matter of collection of assessments for the construction of the western storm sewer here a number of years ago, has not as yet been decided, it was said today.

Final settlement of details growing out of the improvement completed at a cost of more than $40,000, has been delayed by litigation in both the Hardin County common pleas and the appeals courts.

Under ruling of the common pleas court and sustained by the higher court, the city has been enjoined from collecting assessments for the improvement.

OFFICIALS SURPRISE TWO CHICKEN THIEVES IN RAID

Kenton, March 2—Surprised by Hardin County officials when they returned for a sack of live chickens cached in a field near here, Foster Seitz and Charles Callahan, Kenton young men, were placed under arrest and are being held for trial on charges of chicken stealing.

According to Deputy Sheriff Waldo Haudenschield, the two confessed stealing the chickens from the hen house on the William Fulton, Jr., farm, west of here.

Widespread Search Had Failed To Reveal Any Trace of Mrs. Ulmer and Son

Bucyrus, March 2—Mrs. Lura Ulmer, wife of Sheriff Harvey D. Ulmer, who, with her two and one-half year old son, Harvey, Jr., has been missing since midnight last Saturday, has returned with the boy.

For almost a week authorities have been engaged in a widespread search for her and the child. Her husband participated in the search.

Mrs. Ulmer returned to the home of her sister, Mrs. Avery Atkinson. She explained that when she left home she went to Mansfield and then to Toledo where she had a position in a private home.

"I read in the papers that a search was being made for me and my boy so I came home," she said.

Sheriff Ulmer was out of town looking for his wife when she returned.

This movement was also in line with the general market fluctuations in the motor and steel shares, none of which had anything remarkable to their credit.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Today found markets carrying large stocks of practically all kinds of seasonable fruits and vegetables with prices little changed from yesterday and with buying only fair. Dealers report an increased demand for new vegetables. New potatoes, however, are the exception. With good quality old potatoes selling at 35 and 40 cents a peck there is practically no demand for the new at two pounds for 25 cents. New cabbage and beets are selling fairly well, dealers say, at five cents a pound for the former and 10 cents a bunch for the latter.

Leaf vegetables continue plentiful. Leaf lettuce and spinach were being offered at 10 and 15 cents a pound and head lettuce at 10 and 15 cents a head. Endive is holding at 30 cents with the supply limited and the demand small. Dealers were carrying a small stock of peas today that were selling at 20 cents a pound.

The supply of apples is large and dealers report heavy sales at $1.25 to $3.50 a bushel. Tangerines continue high. Dealers were carrying a few today that were selling at 55 cents a dozen. Oranges continue plentiful and are selling at a wide range of prices. Grapefruit also are being offered at a wide range of prices. Bananas are holding at three pounds for 25 cents.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, March 2.—Wheat prices averaged higher yesterday, but the market was unsettled and the close was irregular. A strong, higher opening, due to firm cables, was followed by a break on the issuance of private reports of farm reserves.

Lower prices attracted good buying and a sharp rally ensued, but the market eased off late and finished ⅛c higher to ⅜c lower. March closed at $1.34⅛, May $1.34⅛, July $1.33 and September $1.32⅝.

Corn was even more erratic than wheat, with very rapid price fluctuations. Starting steady, prices rose sharply only to break into the bids on the private reports. From then on the market appeared to gain strength and in the final hour rose to the high points of the week with May at 99⅜c.

Just before the close prices again toppled into the cost of the bids and closed ⅞@1⅛ lower, with March at 94⅜c, July $1.00⅞, and September, $1.01⅛.

Rye Strong

Oats followed the action of the other grains to a considerable extent, though fluctuations were not rapid. Closing prices were ⅝c up to ⅛c off. Rye was the strongest of the list, finishing 1⅞c up to ⅛c off.

News in wheat was mainly bullish. Liverpool closed 1⅛@1¼d higher and cables said there was not as much pressure from Argentine wheat and the demand was improving. Also, weather in Europe turned unfavorable for the crop, with further complaints of damage. Winnipeg was ⅞@⅞c up at the opening, but closed unchanged to ⅛c higher, reacting with the local market.

Farm reserves of wheat were estimated from 122,000,000 to 135,000,000 bu by the four private reports. The average is slightly under 129,000,000 bu, which compares with 130,000,000 bu a year ago, and a five-year average of 127,000,000 bu. Although the visible is in excess of a year ago, the general expectation was for larger reserves, with the result that the figures were construed as bullish.

AGED WOMAN AIDED BY RELIEF FORCE

Given Ticket to Wabash, Ind., After Walking Here from Logan, W. Va.

Weak and exhausted from her long walk through the cold biting wind, Mrs. Matilda Lucas, 74, giving her home as Wabash, Ind., tottered into the office of Relief Commissioner Charles M. Tobin at the City Hall late Tuesday afternoon, asking for a place to spend the night and saying that she, with her step-son, Clyde Lucas, had walked from Columbus to this city, it was revealed today.

Moved by the plight of the aged woman, the relief commissioner immediately took steps to find a place for her to spend the night and through the kindness of Supt. M. H. Porter, she and her step-son were taken to the Marion County Home.

Wednesday morning she was taken to the Union Station where a ticket was purchased for her to the home of her daughter in Wabash, by the relief commissioner. The step-son continued on his way afoot.

The aged woman told the relief commissioner that she and her step-son had walked practically all of the distance from Logan, W. Va., to this city.

She told a pathetic story of having been to visit her son who lived in West Virginia and who was ill from tuberculosis and of the futile efforts of her step-son to secure work there. She said that when they realized that there was nothing for him to do and without money they decided to walk back to Wabash, where she has two married daughters and where she could make her home.

WHY WASTE FUEL?

Of all sources of preventable waste, that of the formation of soot on the fire surface of the heating system is the most troublesome. Soot is all but the best heat insulator known. In non-conducting properties it has been proved to be more than five times as effective as fine asbestos.
